

How Much Does Delta Airlines Charge for Pets? In-Cabin Pet Fees, Size Rules & What Is Allowed

Delta Airlines charges $125 each way for a pet traveling in the cabin on domestic flights, with a maximum of four in-cabin pet spots per flight that fill on a first-come basis. An agent at ☎+1 (888)_425~9695 can reserve your pet's spot and confirm carrier eligibility for your specific flight directly since spots cannot be reserved through the Delta Airlines app. Pets must be at least 10 weeks old and fit in a soft-sided carrier no larger than 18 x 11 x 11 inches under the seat in front of you.

Delta Airlines's In-Cabin Pet Policy – What Is Allowed

Delta Airlines allows small dogs, cats, and household birds to travel in the cabin on most domestic routes. Exotic animals, reptiles, rodents, and other pet types are not permitted in the cabin or as checked baggage.

Your pet must be at least 10 weeks old on the date of travel. Younger animals are not permitted regardless of size or health condition. Your pet must remain in the carrier for the entire flight – they cannot be removed from the carrier during boarding, flight, or deplaning. The pet carrier must fit completely under the seat in front of you during all phases of flight. Delta Airlines uses specific size guidelines for approved carriers – the maximum combined dimensions for soft-sided carriers are typically 18 x 11 x 11 inches, though this can vary by aircraft type. A rigid hard-sided carrier may be more restricted depending on the specific aircraft. Call ☎+1 (888)_425~9695 to confirm that your specific carrier model and dimensions comply with the requirements for your flight's aircraft type before traveling. The agent can check the specific aircraft configuration on your route and confirm clearance.

Pet Fees – What You Pay and When

The in-cabin pet fee is $125 each way for domestic flights. This fee is charged per carrier, not per animal – if you have two small animals that can comfortably and safely fit in one carrier (with enough room to stand, turn around, and lie down), they travel as one pet under one fee. The fee applies on each segment of a connecting itinerary – a round trip with one connection each way means paying the $125 fee four times total ($500 round trip with connections). For frequent pet travelers, nonstop routing significantly reduces the total pet fee cost. International pet-in-cabin policies and fees vary by destination. Some countries restrict or prohibit in-cabin animal transport, and Delta Airlines Airlines's international pet policy depends on the specific destination country's regulations. Call 📞 +1 (888)_425~9695 for international pet travel – the agent confirms whether in-cabin pet transport is permitted for your specific international destination and quotes the applicable fee.

Reserving a Spot for Your Pet – Why You Must Call in Advance

Each Delta Airlines Airlines flight has a limited number of in-cabin pet spots – typically four spots per flight across all cabins. These spots fill on a first-come, first-served basis and cannot be reserved through the Delta Airlines Airlines app or website. Call 📞 +1 (888)_425~9695 as early as possible after booking your own ticket to reserve your pet's spot. Calling the same day you book your own flight gives you the best chance of securing one of the limited available pet spots on your preferred departure.

If the pet spots on your preferred flight are already full, the agent can check other departure options on the same route with available pet capacity, allowing you to choose between an alternative time or a different travel date for you and your pet.

Never show up at the airport with a pet without a confirmed reservation – the gate agent cannot add a pet spot at the airport if the allocation is already full.

Checked Pet and Cargo Options

For larger pets that do not fit in an in-cabin carrier, Delta Airlines Airlines offers checked baggage pet transport and cargo pet transport depending on the animal's size, the route, and the time of year.

Checked baggage pet transport allows your pet to travel in a temperature-controlled compartment as a checked item. Fees for checked pets are significantly higher than in-cabin fees.

Temperature

restrictions apply â€” Delta Airlines Airlines suspends checked pet transport when weather conditions at departure, connecting, or arrival airports exceed safe temperature ranges for animal transport.

Delta Airlines Airlines Cargo handles larger animals and species that cannot travel as checked baggage. This is a separate service from the passenger booking and is arranged through Delta Airlines Airlines Cargo rather than through the passenger reservation system.

Call 📞 +1 (888)_425~9695 and tell the agent your pet's size, breed, and travel dates â€” the agent advises on which transport option is available and appropriate for your specific pet and itinerary.
